THE PROPLE ARE.

Business man will breathe easier, nov that it is an assured fact that the indu trial affairs of the country are not to be trial analis of the uncertainties of the tariff theory advocated by Cleveland to fully post themselves on the tariff and embodied in the Mills bill. The election of Harrison is the most convincing proof of the conservative character of a majority of the American per ple, of all the momentus events that pie, of an the momentum overthe that have transpired in our country's history for the last thirty years. Coming into power at a time of unexampled pres-perity, when nobedy was complaining of "the inequalities of the tarift," when wages were never better; when the laboring man was so well content with his wages and the purchasing power of his earnings, that the administration his earnings, that the administration orators and organs found it necessary to "educate" him; when money was plentitul and interest low; when the great pro-ducing and manufacturing classes were state of affairs, the Democratic adminis-tration sought to precipitate upon the country an untried theory of such radical tariff reduction as would, had it been sustained by the popular voice, assuredly have lead to bttle less than free trade. But the great conservative masses of the country were averse to 'flying to the ills they knew not of." In the light of the history of our country, it would indeed have been strange had the radical tariff olicy of President Cleveland been sus tained at the nolls on Tuesday. In 1840 Martin Van Buren was defeated for president, by General W. II. Har rison, upon the very same tariff is that was fought over again in the late canvass. Van Buren was a statesman of scknowledged ability, while Cleveland's claim to statesmanship is chiefly based upon certain veto messages written while cting as mayor of Buffalo.

Was it not the sheerest folly to suppose that the people would follow a man in whom they had so little reason to place such implicit confidence in his superior knowledge of state craft, us his radica tariff views damanded? A lawyer of such indifferent parts that his fame in the profession never extended beyond the limits of the little city of New York state in which he lived. He possessed n training whatever as a legalistor. He was deputy district attorney of Buffalo; was sheriff at one time and served as mayor of that town. Was then taken up as an available man for president, up as an available man for presummer mainly because he had no record, and, as a preliminary and very necessary step was nominated by his party for gove to which office, by a combination lucky circumstances, he was elected. This of course, gave him such a "rend off" that he became the Democratic candidate for president it 1834. Again Dame Fortune layored him by "inspiring Big Blockhead Burchard to utter "run Romanism and reballion" and he was elected by a plurality in New York city

Since he has been president, what has he done to justify the people in following his lead into the complete revolution of the great business and commercial affairs of the United States, he advised? Nothing. History will record the administration of Grover Cleveland as a failure, and the Democratic party will de nounce him as a leader whose ambition and lack of wisdom overthrew them.

Fuzzno is to be congratulated upon the expression of her voters at the polls, to the effect that we do not need nor will our people tolerate the presence of who have so population that has so long dominated the local politics of the town-ship. Jack Patterson and his pals were given a set back from which they can given a set back from which they can never recover if the newly-elected officers enter upon a vigorous warfare as soon as they qualify for the performance of their duties, and keep it up until the end of their terms.

A Druccuaric politician remarked yesterday: "This election settles the question as to protection. The people have spoken in a very emphatic manne question, and it will remain settled fact for a long time to come that they do not want it tampered with."

The gentleman spoke a truth that we have been endeavoring to impress up our Democratic friends for a long time. The people don't want free trade.

WHEREVER thrift and enterprise are found to-day in the state of California, there we find Republican majorities or pronounced gains for that party in the ever, keep in line of the truth. But it Sections which return Democratic pluralities or majorities are found upon close examination to have been at a standatill or to have gone backward during the past two years.

be seen by our dispatches that Harrison has been triumphantly president of the United States. ew York Son and World, both of supported Cleveland, concede his m. The San, with caustic pen s "the educational campaign," and bitter irony says the people "have educated with a vengoance and at nendous cost," The World bewails lack of time to educate the masses on the tariff question, and says the 'reason for the disastrons defeat" was that the people had not sufficient time question.

There is but little doubt, in the light of the dispatches at hand, but that the house of representatives will be Republican by from twenty to twenty-five majority, while the Republican majority in the senate will be increased by one or two voles. California has gone Republican by from 5000 to 12,000 majority. Missouri has rolled up a very surprising vote and the indications are that even "Old Pike" could not swallow the Cleveland tariff pill. Indiana is still in some doubt, though everything at hand indicates that she has rolled up a handsome majority for her favorite son. Nevada and Oregon both went Republican by a satisfactory vote. To sum up the vale, we feel justified in saying that Cleveland has sustained a crushing defeat and will hardly go into the electoral college with the entire vote of the "solid south." The lesson to be learned from the great contest is, that the pec ple of the United States are not ready to hazzard the satisfactory status que of the industrial affairs of this country, for the theories of an ex-sheroff, whose high est claim to state-manship is his luck in getting office. We rejoice in the election of Harrison, and, having every confi dence in his integrity, believe he will live up to every pledge he has made, not the least of which is the henorable stand he has taken on the Chinese ques tion. Above all we rejoice that the

THE REPUBLICAN sends greeting to al its thousands of readers and congratu lates them on the peaceful settlen and final conclusion of one the political battles that has been fought in this country for many long years. The contest began immediately after President Cleveland issued his ever-memorable "tarlff reform" message months ago and never ceased from the day till Tuesday hal. It has been to long and wearing that the people grew tired of the everlasting political talk.

A retrospective glance at the cours pursued by The Republican during the ast eleven months, brings up nothing to regret and presents nothing to our memory of which we feel ashamed. We have made, we think, a fair, honors ble, vigorous fight for the cause sed and the candidates we suppor ed. We have held "malice lowards none" and we have studiously refrained from saying ought of a personal charac ter against any aspirant. It is a matter of the greatest pleasure to us to be able to say that, notwithstanding The Re-

And now that we can no

Everyhody says so, and we know they speak over the defeat of Cleveland. The Re-port crossed over to the Cleveland side on a very flimsy brige and should not grumble at getting left. It should, howdoes not. It assumes that the election of Harrison is an expression of pro-Chinese sentiment. It says it was "wrong about the tidal-wave of anti-Chinese sentiment in California. The majority of our people are against the Chinese, so the returns seem to show But, out of 55,000 San Francisco voters. at least 20,000 sleclared themselves yes terday in favor of the Chinese, and of the total 249,000 voters in California, over 100,000 would rather have the com-pany of Chinese than their room. AT REST.

The country is once more at rest. Th great contest is over and the people will have surcease of national political pow-Nows for at least three years and a half. The tariff question was forced upon the country by President Cleveland, in what shall ever be remembered as his free trade message, on December 6th, 1887 and was decided in fayor of protection exactly eleven months from that day. It is now in order for his late followers to turn upon and read him to pieces. He was mesuccessful, kill him! "He had a walk-over if he had let the tariff question alone," they will say, and they will never cease showering executions Kept out of power for twenty-four years by the loyal, conservative sentiment o he American voters, it won the election the American voters, it won the earthout INSA by the merest seculent. The sentiment of the majority of the people was not at that time, nor has it never been since, Democratic. The people cannot trust the Democrate with the conrol of this great nation. The spirit of that party is non-progressive and un-American. It plays to the galleries. It ourts and flatters a certain foreign eleneut, to the exclusion of American citivote of native citizens.

The election of Harrison is a triumph of native-born American citizens. He is, after all, the boss of the situation. Americans must rule America.

AMERICAN TRAMPS.

Whatever may have been the moving cause of the creation of that strange human being, doomed to drag out an existence in this bray world, apart from all the triumphs of success, it matter little to the human drone we call "framp." He is as indifferent to the parent tree from which he dropped, a dat, stale, unprofitable fruit as the pig that munches the acorns is careless fo whomes they full. The American tramp is an anomaly. His lot in life, in a country where the horn of plenty has been poured out upon a vast extent of been poured out upon a vasi extent of country without stint, is self-selated. He is an excressence, without excuse for such existence. He is not the outgrowth and the inevitable result of overcrowding, nor last he the excuss of being driven to semi-beggary from the closed avenues of honest industry.

He is not indiginous to our soil. He is a noxious plant, brought from across the seas. The very word "tramp," by which he is designated from his c the traveling mendicants, is of English origin. When he first set foot upor origin. When he first see that these shores, less than thirty years ago shamed of the title. He was a tramp in Europe. His ancestors were tramps, and he deems it no disgrace to walk in their footsteps.

His existence in America is more less embittered by our laws agains regrancy. Strange as it may appear, he really enjoys more liberty to do nothing in Loudon than is accorded him in this country. A writer says: "London framps bave more liberty than the tramps of the Atlantic and Pacific coasts possess, because there is more attention—almost a sentimental attention—paid in England to the 'freedom of the subject' and to the liberty of the streets So long as the tramps move on, like 'poor Joe,' he is let alone. Vagrancy is winked at by the authorities. These do not wish any more charges on the paris than they are obliged to incur or take notice of. In the day time they are entire. ly lost sight of in the swirl of the human tides, and they are only to be well studied at night time."

It is not so difficult to study the Amer ican tramp. He is not, as a rule, swal-lowed up, so to speak, by the environ-ments of our large cities. His peripatetic proclivities generally lead h the country. California is his paradise. Our mild climate is specially condusive to his comfort. With a dirly pair of plantets or an out quint, grain bag, he may be seen anywhere in this state at all seasons of the year.

He is forever "looking for work," but he never finds it. He is never at a loss for a plantible story as to the cause of his present sad plight. The last great is the state of the first plantible story in the best server. configuration in the city is his best ex cuse, because it is the easiest to remem-ber. Everytown and county on the costs. am," he will dolorously sigh, "a broke down man, looking for a job."

Offer him work, and you will at one observe aslight change come over his suntanned features. The change is not noticeable except by the closest server. He usually has perfect contro of his countenance, but the word "work" he will brighten up to apparent buoy ancy of spirits at the good news, and aling his sack of bedding across his shoulders with feigned delight that he is at leat going to get "work." He will go with you at once. If the time should happen to be, say just after breakfas he will find it inconvenient, on accoun sore feef, or something else, to go to work till some time in the atteration. So he gets his dinner. After dinner of course he must have "a little rest." After the "little rest" he is not averse to asking that it be prolonged till the next morning so as to "put in a full day." If this he accorded he is the happiest nan in the world. He takes out his pipe, knife and "tobaccy"—invariably so pronounced by the tramp—and revels in unctuous enjoyment. His appetite at supper is, if possible, an improvement on his midday meal. He onto every empper is, if possible, an improvement on his midday meal. He data everything in sight if he can hold it, and is a jovial as a boy just from zehool. He bids good night and retires to the bard, laymow or strawstack.

Net anorning he is up bottimes—long belove even the "boss" awakes. His face is not seen at the breakfast hoard. He is no est—gone!

In a country like the United States for a country like the United States there is not the breakfast hoard. He is no est—gone!

In a country like the United States there is not the broad domain lies spread out under God'p ann like a great, bountful table, inviting all so come and parlake of the good things of eighth. Not without money and without price, but in obedience to the universal law that anfarces the eating of hread in the sweat of the brow. The tramp is an unwelcome useless member of the human family, peculiar to no particular nationality. He should be driven out. He is not wanted.

THE ELECTION.

The dispatches from the

sterday morning confirmed the news of the earlier hours and Democrats gen rally conceded that Harrison would be he next president of the United States This had the effect of not only damper no their enthusiasm, but it also concer rated the interest on the county ticket. From all over the country comes the re-port, "This has been the quietest election over known," and Freano is no exception to the rule in this respect. With the Democrats dishearted and the Republicans quiet, on the principle of "wait till you are sure before you yell," the only indications in this city yesterday of an election having just been held was the crowds on the street corners and around the built-in boards. Even the result in California failed to cause anxiety, for the Republicans said, "We do not need it," and the Democrats said, "It will do us no good." As the hours went by and bulletins arrived from the eastern attack, showing that Harrison's election was a certainty, the attention of all parties was given to the county ticket.

THE COUNTY BETUENSS

Came in slowly during the day and cretion over known," and

Came in slowly during the day and created intense surprise on account of the greatly decreased Democratic majorities. As precinct after precincl was heard As precinct after precinct was heard from it became apparent that several county officers on the Hepublican ticket stood a good show to win. Breeze, for county recorder, Bishop, for coroner, Frank Short for dilariet attorney and Vincent for the assembly were the Republicans whose chances seemed to be the brightest. The tabulated statement found elsewhere will show the full vote in the county and with it will also be found the will distinct the statement of the county and with it will also be found the middle statement and the statement of the county and with it will also be found the indications at the hour of going to press.

The Republicans did romarkably well in electing both justices of the peace, one constable. The fight in the offices of constable. The fight in the offices of this township was centered upon the officials named and Morgan, the success-lui Democratic constable, was elected by Republican votes. The lickets bore the marks of the scratcher in nine cases out of ten and in many instances but one name was scratched on a regular Democratic or Ropublican ticket. For instance, Wright Bresse run allead of his ticket in both precincts, receiving many Democratic votes that were straight but lor the scratch in his favor. There were but cars. The Democrate have lost beavily cers. The Democrate have lost heavily on the general result, and if California goes Republican their losses will be increased one-half. One of the strangest things connected with the election in this city is the fact that during all the excitement of Threaday and Wednesday there was not one arrest made for drunkenius and one arrest made for drunkenius or disrepulable conduct. Well, the fight is over, and by to night the whole question will be decided beyond a doubt. Berrybody seems glad of it, and we honeelly believe that the result is gratifying to many Democrate who voted with their party, but who disliked free trade.

Yesterday, and those on the county offi-

AT MIDSIGHT

Lust night the returns were in from a sufficient number of precincle to settle the question as to the county ficket. Walter Rishop has defeated E. J. King Watter lisshop has doteated E. J. King for ecroner by a large majority. Hon, J. P. Vinecuti so far ahead of Tucker that the latter cannot overlake him. Bresse is in all probability deteated by a small majority, and had be made a Single arcanyase to that made by his opponent, he would have undoubtedly been elected. As it is, he should be an is more than proud of the vote he received, especially in this eity. His majority in Freene City and the colonies is over 200. The majorities given the county dicket leave no wone for doubt that in two years from now Fresno county will go Republishen, it spite of everything done to prevent it. ANOTHER RAILROAD.

Fresno May Yet Have a Competing

The San Francisco Chronicle of yester The San Francisco Chronicle of yester-day says: "It was reported yesterday that the new Stockton, Fresno & Southern railroad company, having com-pleted its survey between Stockton and Fresno, would begin grading on Decem-ber 1st. The fact that A. E. Davis is in-terested in the scheme when hand in ber ist. The fact that A. E. Davis is no-terested in the scheme gives local rail-road nen the assurance that there is more in it than in many of the other projects to which the public's attention has been attracted of late in the San Joaquin valley."

The above road is the one which was dubed here the "inysterious line," etc., when the parties having the securing of the right of way for the line were at work in this county. It was so called because the parties ladly refused to tell who was behind the scheme, and for this reason our people were somewhat lakewern in giving it aid, fearing that it was a dedge of the Southern Practic company. Finally the gontlemen here in the interest of the roat agreed to generate that it should be competing line with the Southern Practice, and intimated that one of the interest and wealthiest of the eastern trunk lines was the backer of the enterprise. It was an easy matter thou to secure a right of way, subject to the above-stated conditions. From line that the tothing has been said about brilding the road during the past sure dubbed here the "mysterious line," etc. that dontessating has been said about building the road during the past summer, many have forgotten it was ever projected, and others have come to the conclusion, that there was nothing in it. It work is commenced on the line in earnest and the people of Freena are given the proper assummes, it will be an easy matter to secure a generous subsidy from our citizens, for there was never a botter time for a railroad to enter this city. Convinced that the Southern Pacific will ever do its utmost to hinder any competing line coming into our city, and feeling that that company deliberately and will-fully lied to them shout the shops to cravent them, if possible, giving any encouragement to the Santa Fe, the citizens of Fresno have determined to aid in easer possible war the first railroad that

MOREY'S TRIAL

For Burglary in Progress in the Superior Court.

Refore Judge Harris in depart No. 2 of the superior court yesterday efternoon the trial of James Morey, alias James Allen, alias a hult dozen other names, was commenced. District At-torney Tupper and his assistant, Mr. Welsh, conducted the case for the people, and A. S. Cureton represented the defense. The crime for which Morey is being tried is for the burglary of the resi-dence of H. J. Funts, from which he dence of H. J. Funts, from which he took a diamond searpin, two watches, some $40 in money and other things. The prosecution proved that Morey was the man who sold the jewerry to the women across the track, from whom it was recovered. It was also proven that this studen diamond pin was found in the prisoner's pocket when searched at the visit. J. W. Forqueon testified that Morey resembled very much the man whom he met face to face in his house on the night before the burglary for which Morey is being tried. Altogether the prosecution succeeded in middle when case the proceeding the desired the hour for adjoining court. that the man was very dangerously wounded. Kneeling beside him, the writer said: "Stonce, you are very badly hurt. You had better say now, while you can, what you want to tell about this terrible affair."

Between gasps the wounded man told the story as above related, adding: "Wes was holding me when he shot mn, he (meaning Harawick) swore to a lie to rain an orphan girl's clustacter and struck him." His attorneys, Mr. Grady and Mr. Church, were both beside him, and when he asked for his wife he was assured that she had been taken by friends to her room at the Grand Central hotel. Although suffering the most intense agony, the wonded man bore up bravely and asked that his true candition be hidden from his wife, for he realized that he was mortally hurt.

The writer left Stonce on the floor, one attorney having sent a dozen men for physicians while the other had gone to get a litter on which to convey him to some more comfortable place, and went to the jail. Johnny White opened the strong iron door and told the reporter that Hardwick was in a certain cell. Entering the cell the reporter was more than astonished to find Hardwick lying on a cot

The first shot was on a line with the disphram and passed entirely through the body, lodging user the spine. The second shot entered the back under the right shoulder blade and ranged upward, lodging near the collar bone. The wounds were made with an English but dog revolver of Secalibre. The one bull which entered Hardwick's body struck him below the nipple in the right breast and striking a rib glanced downward, probably into the cavity of the bowels. As stated the physicians made no effort to more then guess at the course of the bullets, as they were anxious to get up reaction.
